Section A — Comprehension and summary

1(a)(i). Why did the mother narrate stories to her son?

Step 1: Locate the relevant idea in the passage.

Step 2: Identify her repeated emphasis on giving and caring; explain the moral purpose rather than just the time of storytelling.

Final Answer: To teach him kindness, especially the importance of helping poor people.

1(a)(ii). Explain “Giving to the poor can make up for sin, just as water can put out blazing fire.”

Step 1: Locate the relevant idea in the passage.

Step 2: Recognise the comparison with water and fire as a moral illustration; the passage praises practical kindness.

Final Answer: It compares charitable deeds with extinguishing a fire: kindness can help a person make amends for wrongdoing.

1(a)(iii). What should you do when someone is in trouble?

Step 1: Locate the relevant idea in the passage.

Step 2: Combine the instructions not to add trouble, delay assistance or turn away from a person in distress.

Final Answer: Help promptly and kindly without adding to the person’s problems or humiliating them.

1(a)(iv). Explain “Bow your head to the men of authority.”

Step 1: Locate the relevant idea in the passage.

Step 2: Interpret the physical gesture as a sign of respect, rather than an instruction to keep the head bent all the time.

Final Answer: Show respect to people in positions of authority.

1(a)(v). Give one reason for poverty in society, with reference to the passage.

Step 1: Locate the relevant idea in the passage.

Step 2: The final paragraph contrasts people in need with those having surplus resources. Lack of contact or awareness prevents assistance; do not present an unmentioned cause as an explicit statement.

Final Answer: Some people cannot obtain basic resources or help, even while others have more food and water than they need.

1(b)(i). State TRUE or FALSE: The narrator usually told stories in the evening.

Step 1: Check the statement against the passage's message.

Step 2: The mother narrated stories in the evening, especially after dinner.

Final Answer: TRUE.

1(b)(ii). State TRUE or FALSE: An opportunity to work can make poor people independent.

Step 1: Check the statement against the passage's message.

Step 2: The instruction not to prevent poor people from making a living supports their ability to support themselves.

Final Answer: TRUE.

1(b)(iii). State TRUE or FALSE: People responding kindly to others do not think of the future.

Step 1: Check the statement against the passage's message.

Step 2: The passage says a kind person thinks of the future and may receive help in difficult times.

Final Answer: FALSE.

1(b)(iv). State TRUE or FALSE: "A friend in need is a friend indeed" means friends help only on happy occasions.

Step 1: Check the statement against the passage's message.

Step 2: The proverb values support during hardship, rather than limiting friendship to celebrations.

Final Answer: FALSE.

1(b)(v). State TRUE or FALSE: People should respect others for who they are rather than what they possess.

Step 1: Check the statement against the passage's message.

Step 2: The advice to listen politely to poor people and protect them supports respect regardless of wealth.

Final Answer: TRUE.

2(i). Complete Juma's first activity.

Step 1: Read the corresponding row of the timetable.

Step 2: The timetable begins with waking up and preparation.

Final Answer: wakes up

2(ii). When does Juma wake up?

Step 1: Read the corresponding row of the timetable.

Step 2: The first interval starts at 6:00.

Final Answer: 6:00 a.m.

2(iii). When does his walk to school start?

Step 1: Read the corresponding row of the timetable.

Step 2: The journey is shown from 6:30 to 7:00.

Final Answer: 6:30 a.m.

2(iv). When does he join the cleaning?

Step 1: Read the corresponding row of the timetable.

Step 2: Cleaning occupies 7:00–7:30.

Final Answer: 7:00 a.m.

2(v). Complete “parade, ___ and inspection”.

Step 1: Read the corresponding row of the timetable.

Step 2: The 7:30–8:00 interval lists parade, announcements and inspection.

Final Answer: announcements

Section Summary: Use passage evidence for factual answers and distinguish an inference from a direct statement. Timetable answers must match the start of each interval.

4. Arrange the ball-and-broken-window sentences A-F into a logical paragraph.

Step 1: Begin with the boy playing (B), followed by his kick breaking the window (E).

Step 2: The woman hears the break (D), then comes out shouting (A). The boy flees (C) and later returns to apologise (F).

Step 3: Full paragraph: A little boy was playing with his ball in the street. He kicked it hard and broke the window of Mrs. Mawazo's house. The woman was shocked by the sound of the broken window. Then, she came out of the house shouting at the naughty boy. The boy was so frightened that he ran away. A few minutes later, he came back to the house to apologise.

Final Answer: B, E, D, A, C, F.

5. Write the Biziku family's formal invitation to Anjilili's birthday at Serena Hotel, Dar es Salaam, on 20 November 2021, 6-9 p.m. Include the given regrets contact.

Step 1: Name the hosts, the occasion and the person being celebrated.

Step 2: State the venue, date and time clearly. End with the specified contact for guests unable to attend.

Final Answer: INVITATION

Mr. and Mrs. Biziku cordially invite their relatives and friends to the birthday celebration of their daughter, Anjilili.

Venue: Serena Hotel, Dar es Salaam

Date: Saturday, 20 November 2021

Time: 6:00 p.m.-9:00 p.m.

We look forward to celebrating with you.

Regrets only: Mrs. Biziku Fulumo, mobile 0797 090 7789.

Study Tip: This is a model card. The contact number is reproduced as printed in the examination; it is not a website contact.

Section Summary: A coherent paragraph follows cause and effect. Invitation cards need hosts, occasion, venue, date, time and an appropriate response contact.

Section C — Patterns and vocabulary

Step 1: Trace the relationship from the speaker to the named relative.

Step 2: One generation above a grandparent is a great-grandparent.

Final Answer: great-grandfather

Section Summary: Dictionary order depends on the first different letter. Keep subject-verb agreement and retain comparisons when rewriting sentences.

Section D — Reading programme

9(a). Using Mabala the Farmer, describe a hardworking female character.

Step 1: Use Mabala the Farmer by R. S. Mabala consistently for this model response.

Step 2: Name the reader and its author, R. S. Mabala. Link the trait to Mauja's practical contribution rather than merely labelling her good.

Final Answer: Mauja, also called Mama Martina, is hardworking. She undertakes farming and family responsibilities while encouraging her husband to take work seriously.

Study Tip: Other prescribed readers and well-supported interpretations can also earn credit. These are model responses, not the only acceptable wording.

9(b). Identify a male character and relate him to present society.

Step 1: Use Mabala the Farmer by R. S. Mabala consistently for this model response.

Step 2: Separate the character's behaviour from your comparison with society; explain how the same attitude can affect people today.

Final Answer: Mabala represents people who expect success without enough effort and resist useful advice. His behaviour warns present-day learners and workers that pride and idleness can damage family welfare.

Study Tip: Other prescribed readers and well-supported interpretations can also earn credit. These are model responses, not the only acceptable wording.

9(c). What is Mabala the Farmer about?

Step 1: Use Mabala the Farmer by R. S. Mabala consistently for this model response.

Step 2: Give the central person, activity and conflict. A brief account is more relevant than a list of unrelated themes.

Final Answer: It follows Mabala and his family as he attempts rural farming. His poor work habits and unwillingness to learn create problems, while his wife's effort shows the importance of responsibility and cooperation.

Study Tip: Other prescribed readers and well-supported interpretations can also earn credit. These are model responses, not the only acceptable wording.

9(d). Which character do you like most, and why?

Step 1: Use Mabala the Farmer by R. S. Mabala consistently for this model response.

Step 2: This is an opinion question, so state a choice and support it with the character's behaviour.

Final Answer: I like Mauja most because she works to support her family and offers practical advice. Her example shows that perseverance and care for others matter more than boasting.

Study Tip: Other prescribed readers and well-supported interpretations can also earn credit. These are model responses, not the only acceptable wording.

9(e). Give a message of the reader to society.

Step 1: Use Mabala the Farmer by R. S. Mabala consistently for this model response.

Step 2: Turn a theme into advice, then connect the advice to the story.

Final Answer: People should work responsibly, listen to constructive advice and cooperate in their families. The contrast between Mabala's failings and Mauja's effort shows why these habits are valuable.

Study Tip: Other prescribed readers and well-supported interpretations can also earn credit. These are model responses, not the only acceptable wording.

10(a)(i). Who are the three people mentioned in the first stanza?

Step 1: Refer to the supplied poem rather than an unrelated literary work.

Step 2: Read the first stanza and identify its three professions.

Final Answer: A preacher, a judge and a teacher.

10(a)(ii). What happens when those people become victims of drug abuse?

Step 1: Refer to the supplied poem rather than an unrelated literary work.

Step 2: The next stanza places them in "worry houses" and describes the nation declining; connect personal harm with harm to society.

Final Answer: They suffer and lose their ability to fulfil important responsibilities. Their decline also harms the community because religious guidance, justice and education depend on responsible people.

10(b)(i). How many verses are in the third stanza?

Step 1: Refer to the supplied poem rather than an unrelated literary work.

Step 2: Count the lines beginning with “I am telling you now” and ending with “It is the sense of knowledge.” A verse here means a line, not a stanza.

Final Answer: Eight verses (lines).

10(b)(ii). How many stanzas are in the poem?

Step 1: Refer to the supplied poem rather than an unrelated literary work.

Step 2: Count the three blocks separated by blank spaces.

Final Answer: Three stanzas.

10(c). Name two things the poet says are not good for people, and explain why.

Step 1: Refer to the supplied poem rather than an unrelated literary work.

Step 2: Select two substances explicitly named in the final stanza. Glue sniffing is also criticised; ground the reason in the poem’s consequences.

Final Answer: Cocaine and liquor. The poem links their misuse with suffering and the deterioration of people who previously served society well.

10(d). What would you suggest to the poem’s audience?

Step 1: Refer to the supplied poem rather than an unrelated literary work.

Step 2: Offer practical advice responding to the warning and the repeated call not to stand aside.

Final Answer: Avoid drug misuse, reject misleading claims about it and help affected people obtain support. The community should act together rather than watch people’s lives deteriorate.

10(e). How could government address the harmful situation described?

Step 1: Refer to the supplied poem rather than an unrelated literary work.

Step 2: Suggest measures linked to the poem's causes and consequences. Explain both reducing exposure and assisting victims.

Final Answer: It could support public education, rehabilitation and community prevention, and address the illicit supply of harmful drugs. These measures would combine prevention with help for affected people.

Section Summary: Support character traits with actions. For poetry, distinguish a line from a stanza and connect advice to the poem's message.
