Source paper: English-F2-2025.pdf

The key explains overlapping options in 1(iv), the past-time meaning of 1(ix), the calendar mismatch in 5, and the inaccurate printed verb lay in 8(viii). Fact/opinion answers distinguish the exercise's intended classification from strict descriptive versus advisory wording.

Section A — Objective questions

1(i). Add a tag to “Samson married Rukia last year.”

Step 1: Identify the tense, purpose or implication being tested.

Step 2: The statement is positive past simple; use negative did and pronoun he.

Final Answer: C — Didn't he?

1(ii). A Mathematics test will occur every Friday from today. What activity is this?

Step 1: Identify the tense, purpose or implication being tested.

Step 2: Every Friday specifies repetition, even though the routine begins in the future.

Final Answer: B — Habitual activity.

1(iii). “By this time tomorrow I will have finished my homework” means what?

Step 1: Identify the tense, purpose or implication being tested.

Step 2: Future perfect will have finished expresses completion no later than the reference time, rather than starting or still working.

Final Answer: B — By that time I will finish the homework, is the closest option: it will already be completed by the stated time.

1(iv). “The guests are staying with us for two months” expresses what?

Step 1: Identify the tense, purpose or implication being tested.

Step 2: For two months limits the stay, so B, permanent, is false and C, already completed, is false. Present continuous can describe the current temporary situation.

Final Answer: D — Their stay will last temporarily, is the best answer for the limited duration. A also correctly recognises a current stay.

1(v). How should you politely oppose a claim that girls' education is unimportant?

Step 1: Identify the tense, purpose or implication being tested.

Step 2: This acknowledges the speaker before presenting disagreement; the alternatives insult the speaker or agree with the claim.

Final Answer: B — I can see your point. But ...

1(vi). Which opening fits a formal telephone conversation?

Step 1: Identify the tense, purpose or implication being tested.

Step 2: It greets politely and checks the recipient's identity; the others are abrupt or assume the conversation has already begun.

Final Answer: A — Hello, am I speaking to Jimmy?

1(vii). Why use straightforward language in a telephone message?

Step 1: Identify the tense, purpose or implication being tested.

Step 2: Clarity allows the intended recipient to understand and act on it.

Final Answer: D — To ensure the message is understood.

1(viii). Express Sangatiti's gift-giving habit.

Step 1: Identify the tense, purpose or implication being tested.

Step 2: Present simple buys describes a habit; the other forms express completion or a current action.

Final Answer: C — Sangatiti buys a present for his wife.

1(ix). “Had Yusuf paid the dowry, he would have married Sikitu” implies what?

Step 1: Identify the tense, purpose or implication being tested.

Step 2: Had Yusuf paid is an inverted third conditional, equivalent to if he had paid. It describes an unreal past condition.

Final Answer: C is the intended choice: he did not pay the dowry and therefore did not marry her in that past situation.

Study Tip: The printed option says “cannot marry”, but the conditional concerns an unreal past event. It does not prove that a future marriage is impossible.

1(x). Which technique helps you capture a lecture efficiently?

Step 1: Identify the tense, purpose or implication being tested.

Step 2: Concise notes allow attention to meaning without trying to transcribe every sentence.

Final Answer: A — Use symbols, short forms and main ideas.

2(i). Match the travel term: A seat beside the passage in a bus, train or aircraft.

Step 1: Compare the description with the listed term’s meaning.

Step 2: The aisle is the passage between seats.

Final Answer: D — Aisle seat.

2(ii). Match the travel term: Showing your ticket when arriving at the airport.

Step 1: Compare the description with the listed term’s meaning.

Step 2: Check-in registers a passenger for the journey.

Final Answer: A — Check in.

2(iii). Match the travel term: Leaving a hotel at the end of a stay.

Step 1: Compare the description with the listed term’s meaning.

Step 2: Check-out completes the departure arrangements.

Final Answer: F — Check out.

2(iv). Match the travel term: An advance arrangement for a seat or hotel room.

Step 1: Compare the description with the listed term's meaning.

Step 2: A reservation books the place before arrival.

Final Answer: B — Reservation.

2(v). Match the travel term: A holiday involving travel away from home for pleasure.

Step 1: Compare the description with the listed term's meaning.

Step 2: Vacation is a holiday or break from regular work.

Final Answer: C — Vacation.

Section Summary: Match question tags to tense. A third conditional describes an unreal past event; it does not determine every future possibility.

Section B — Language use

3(i). Anita ___ (want) to go outside.

Step 1: Place the verb in the completed yesterday narrative and check auxiliaries.

Step 2: Use regular past simple wanted.

Final Answer: wanted

3(ii). She read until the electricity ___ (go) off.

Step 1: Place the verb in the completed yesterday narrative and check auxiliaries.

Step 2: The past form of go is went.

Final Answer: went

3(iii). After lunch she ___ (sit) by the window.

Step 1: Place the verb in the completed yesterday narrative and check auxiliaries.

Step 2: The past form of sit is sat.

Final Answer: sat

3(iv). While she watched the rain, the phone ___ (ring).

Step 1: Place the verb in the completed yesterday narrative and check auxiliaries.

Step 2: The event interrupting the background action takes past simple rang.

Final Answer: rang

3(v). When her mother ___ (arrive) ...

Step 1: Place the verb in the completed yesterday narrative and check auxiliaries.

Step 2: The finished arrival uses past simple.

Final Answer: arrived

3(vi). ... they ___ (eat) ice cream.

Step 1: Place the verb in the completed yesterday narrative and check auxiliaries.

Step 2: The past form of eat is ate.

Final Answer: ate

3(vii). ... which her mother ___ (bring).

Step 1: Place the verb in the completed yesterday narrative and check auxiliaries.

Step 2: Had brought makes the earlier bringing explicit: it happened before they ate the ice cream.

Final Answer: had brought; brought is also grammatical in a straightforward past narrative.

3(viii). Then the rain ___ (stop).

Step 1: Place the verb in the completed yesterday narrative and check auxiliaries.

Step 2: Double final p before -ed: stopped.

Final Answer: stopped

3(ix). Anita did not ___ (notice).

Step 1: Place the verb in the completed yesterday narrative and check auxiliaries.

Step 2: After did not, use the base form rather than noticed.

Final Answer: notice

3(x). She ___ (be) having a good time.

Step 1: Place the verb in the completed yesterday narrative and check auxiliaries.

Step 2: Singular she takes was in the past continuous.

Final Answer: was

4(i). Give a category name for Car, lorry, tractor, motorcycle.

Step 1: Find the class shared by the items, rather than a number of them.

Step 2: These are means of transport.

Final Answer: vehicles

4(ii). Give a category name for Pen, pencil, ruler, exercise book.

Step 1: Find the class shared by the items, rather than a number of them.

Step 2: Stationery names writing and related office or school materials; stationary means not moving.

Final Answer: stationery

4(iii). Give a category name for Table, chair, cupboard, door.

Step 1: Find the class shared by the items, rather than a number of them.

Step 2: The first three are furniture. The inclusion of door makes the set imprecise in ordinary classification.

Final Answer: Furniture is the intended category for table, chair and cupboard; a door is normally a building fixture.

4(iv). Give a category name for Dog, cow, cat, goat.

Step 1: Find the class shared by the items, rather than a number of them.

Step 2: These animals are commonly kept by people.

Final Answer: domestic animals

4(v). Give a category name for Housefly, bee, cockroach, ant.

Step 1: Find the class shared by the items, rather than a number of them.

Step 2: All four belong to the insect group.

Final Answer: insects

5(i). What is the role of 23 October 2024 in the letter?

Step 1: Read the relevant letter component and distinguish sender, recipient and event.

Step 2: The date appears beneath the sender's address.

Final Answer: It is the date the letter was written.

5(ii). Who wrote the letter?

Step 1: Read the relevant letter component and distinguish sender, recipient and event.

Step 2: The writer signs this name at the end.

Final Answer: Makombo.

5(iii). What does "Dear Sunguti" refer to?

Step 1: Read the relevant letter component and distinguish sender, recipient and event.

Step 2: Dear introduces the opening greeting; Sunguti is the person addressed.

Final Answer: The salutation addressing the recipient, Sunguti.

5(iv). What is the letter about?

Step 1: Read the relevant letter component and distinguish sender, recipient and event.

Step 2: The opening body sentence states that the invitation has been accepted.

Final Answer: Accepting an invitation to Omolo's graduation ceremony.

5(v). Why state the event's day and date?

Step 1: Read the relevant letter component and distinguish sender, recipient and event.

Step 2: A specific date reduces uncertainty about the event.

Final Answer: To confirm when the ceremony will occur and help the guest plan to attend.

Study Tip: The example letter pairs Thursday with 12 November 2024, which was a Tuesday. This is an internal calendar error in the supplied letter.

6(i). Classify the supplied sentence: COVID-19 is caused by SARS-CoV-2.

Step 1: Look for a verifiable description or wording signalling belief, uncertainty or recommendation.

Step 2: This is an objectively verifiable description of the disease's cause.

Final Answer: FACT.

Study Tip: This question tests the language of fact and opinion. A factual-sounding sentence still needs evidence; a cautious phrase can describe a scientifically supported idea.

6(ii). Classify the supplied sentence: The disease affects people in different ways.

Step 1: Look for a verifiable description or wording signalling belief, uncertainty or recommendation.

Step 2: Variation in symptoms and severity is observable.

Final Answer: FACT.

Study Tip: This question tests the language of fact and opinion. A factual-sounding sentence still needs evidence; a cautious phrase can describe a scientifically supported idea.

6(iii). Classify the supplied sentence: Some doctors believe the disease is man-made.

Step 1: Look for a verifiable description or wording signalling belief, uncertainty or recommendation.

Step 2: Believe identifies the claim as a belief rather than evidence establishing its content.

Final Answer: OPINION, for the expressed belief in this exercise.

Study Tip: This question tests the language of fact and opinion. A factual-sounding sentence still needs evidence; a cautious phrase can describe a scientifically supported idea.

6(iv). Classify the supplied sentence: Most infected people develop mild to moderate illness.

Step 1: Look for a verifiable description or wording signalling belief, uncertainty or recommendation.

Step 2: This is a testable population-level statement, also reflected in WHO's general overview.

Final Answer: FACT, in the examination's general description.

Study Tip: This question tests the language of fact and opinion. A factual-sounding sentence still needs evidence; a cautious phrase can describe a scientifically supported idea.

6(v). Classify the supplied sentence: It seems that many recover without hospitalisation.

Step 1: Look for a verifiable description or wording signalling belief, uncertainty or recommendation.

Step 2: It seems frames the statement as the speaker's impression, even though recovery without hospitalisation can also be measured.

Final Answer: OPINION, under the exercise's wording-based distinction.

Study Tip: This question tests the language of fact and opinion. A factual-sounding sentence still needs evidence; a cautious phrase can describe a scientifically supported idea.

6(vi). Classify the supplied sentence: People should keep a safe distance, including from people without visible illness.

Step 1: Look for a verifiable description or wording signalling belief, uncertainty or recommendation.

Step 2: Distinguish support for a preventive measure from the grammatical form of advice. A strict fact-versus-value classification could call the recommendation an opinion.

Final Answer: FACT is the likely intended classification as evidence-based preventive guidance; the word should also makes this a recommendation rather than a purely descriptive fact.

Study Tip: This question tests the language of fact and opinion. A factual-sounding sentence still needs evidence; a cautious phrase can describe a scientifically supported idea.

6(vii). Classify the supplied sentence: Dar es Salaam might be the most affected region.

Step 1: Look for a verifiable description or wording signalling belief, uncertainty or recommendation.

Step 2: Might expresses an unverified possibility; no regional data is supplied.

Final Answer: OPINION.

Study Tip: This question tests the language of fact and opinion. A factual-sounding sentence still needs evidence; a cautious phrase can describe a scientifically supported idea.

6(viii). Classify the supplied sentence: There is a great possibility it is a respiratory disease.

Step 1: Look for a verifiable description or wording signalling belief, uncertainty or recommendation.

Step 2: Possibility marks uncertainty in the sentence; this classification concerns the wording, not whether COVID-19 actually causes respiratory illness.

Final Answer: OPINION, because of the speculative framing.

Study Tip: This question tests the language of fact and opinion. A factual-sounding sentence still needs evidence; a cautious phrase can describe a scientifically supported idea.

6(ix). Classify the supplied sentence: Symptoms include fever, tiredness, cough and loss of taste or smell.

Step 1: Look for a verifiable description or wording signalling belief, uncertainty or recommendation.

Step 2: These symptoms can be clinically observed. Their relative frequency varies, so the supplied wording should not be treated as a current ranking.

Final Answer: FACT, as a description of recognised symptoms.

Study Tip: This question tests the language of fact and opinion. A factual-sounding sentence still needs evidence; a cautious phrase can describe a scientifically supported idea.

6(x). Classify the supplied sentence: My view is that lockdown cannot help much.

Step 1: Look for a verifiable description or wording signalling belief, uncertainty or recommendation.

Step 2: My view explicitly marks a personal judgement.

Final Answer: OPINION.

Study Tip: This question tests the language of fact and opinion. A factual-sounding sentence still needs evidence; a cautious phrase can describe a scientifically supported idea.

7(i). What do / / indicate in the extract?

Step 1: Locate the requested notation or sense in the provided entry.

Step 2: Slash marks enclose the sounds of the word.

Final Answer: The pronunciation in phonetic transcription.

7(ii). What is the headword?

Step 1: Locate the requested notation or sense in the provided entry.

Step 2: The headword appears at the start of the dictionary entry.

Final Answer: material

7(iii). What does SYN stand for?

Step 1: Locate the requested notation or sense in the provided entry.

Step 2: It labels another word with the same or a closely related meaning.

Final Answer: synonym

7(iv). What synonym is given for material?

Step 1: Locate the requested notation or sense in the provided entry.

Step 2: Fabric appears beside the cloth sense of material.

Final Answer: fabric

7(v). What does “good university material” mean?

Step 1: Locate the requested notation or sense in the provided entry.

Step 2: This is a figurative use of material, not a reference to cloth or building supplies.

Final Answer: A person with the ability or qualities to succeed at university.

8(i). We love ___ (go) to the park.

Step 1: Use an -ing activity after the preference verb to match the passage’s construction.

Step 2: Add -ing to go.

Final Answer: going

Study Tip: Love, like and hate can also take to-infinitives in many of these sentences. The -ing forms give a consistent model; enjoy would require an -ing complement.

8(ii). We like ___ (have) picnics.

Step 1: Use an -ing activity after the preference verb to match the passage’s construction.

Step 2: Drop the final e before adding -ing.

Final Answer: having

Study Tip: Love, like and hate can also take to-infinitives in many of these sentences. The -ing forms give a consistent model; enjoy would require an -ing complement.

8(iv). My father hates ___ (cook).

Step 1: Use an -ing activity after the preference verb to match the passage's construction.

Step 2: The activity after hates is expressed by cooking.

Final Answer: cooking

Study Tip: Love, like and hate can also take to-infinitives in many of these sentences. The -ing forms give a consistent model; enjoy would require an -ing complement.

8(v). My mother likes ___ (make) sandwiches.

Step 1: Use an -ing activity after the preference verb to match the passage's construction.

Step 2: Drop final e in make before -ing.

Final Answer: making

Study Tip: Love, like and hate can also take to-infinitives in many of these sentences. The -ing forms give a consistent model; enjoy would require an -ing complement.

8(vi). My sister and I love ___ (play) in the park.

Step 1: Use an -ing activity after the preference verb to match the passage's construction.

Step 2: Add -ing without changing final y.

Final Answer: playing

Study Tip: Love, like and hate can also take to-infinitives in many of these sentences. The -ing forms give a consistent model; enjoy would require an -ing complement.

8(vii). ... and ___ (feed) the animals.

Step 1: Use an -ing activity after the preference verb to match the passage's construction.

Step 2: Use a parallel -ing complement coordinated with playing.

Final Answer: feeding

Study Tip: Love, like and hate can also take to-infinitives in many of these sentences. The -ing forms give a consistent model; enjoy would require an -ing complement.

8(viii). My mother does not like ___ (lay) on a blanket.

Step 1: Use an -ing activity after the preference verb to match the passage's construction.

Step 2: The correct base verb for resting on a blanket is lie, whose -ing form is lying. Lay means put something down: laying a blanket, for example.

Final Answer: lying is correct natural English. Laying is the mechanical -ing form of printed lay, but it needs an object and does not fit the intended resting meaning.

Study Tip: Love, like and hate can also take to-infinitives in many of these sentences. The -ing forms give a consistent model; enjoy would require an -ing complement.

8(ix). She loves ___ (watch) us.

Step 1: Use an -ing activity after the preference verb to match the passage's construction.

Step 2: Add -ing to watch.

Final Answer: watching

8(x). We love ___ (listen) to birds.

Step 1: Use an -ing activity after the preference verb to match the passage's construction.

Step 2: Add -ing to listen.

Final Answer: listening

Study Tip: Love, like and hate can also take to-infinitives in many of these sentences. The -ing forms give a consistent model; enjoy would require an -ing complement.

9(i). Join the woman and her daughter's examination success using whose.

Step 1: Preserve the original participants and meaning while applying the requested linker.

Step 2: Whose links the daughter to the woman. Commas mark the added information.

Final Answer: That woman, whose daughter passed her final examination outstandingly, is our family friend.

9(ii). Join the cloudy weather and absence of rain using despite.

Step 1: Preserve the original participants and meaning while applying the requested linker.

Step 2: Despite takes a noun phrase, not a bare finite clause.

Final Answer: Despite the cloudy weather, it did not rain.

9(iii). Begin "If they had time, they would visit us" with Unless.

Step 1: Preserve the original participants and meaning while applying the requested linker.

Step 2: Unless means if not. In the intended transformation, retain the past condition and negate the result.

Final Answer: Unless they had time, they would not visit us.

9(iv). Join the shoe-brushing and radio-listening actions using while.

Step 1: Preserve the original participants and meaning while applying the requested linker.

Step 2: While links two simultaneous past-continuous actions.

Final Answer: He was brushing his shoes while he was listening to the radio.

9(v). Join the letter being sent and failure to attend using though.

Step 1: Preserve the original participants and meaning while applying the requested linker.

Step 2: Though introduces the contrast between the invitation and their absence.

Final Answer: Though we sent them a letter, they did not attend the meeting.

Section Summary: Fact and opinion depend on both wording and evidence. Check the meaning of lie and lay, and use noun phrases after despite.

Section C — Letter writing

10. As Kulwa, write to your sister Milembe about Masanja's graduation in Language Teaching at the University of Dar es Salaam next month, which all the family plans to attend.

Step 1: Use a personal address and date, Dear Milembe, a friendly body and a suitable closing. The example address and writing date may be replaced.

Step 2: Include the brother's name, programme, university, next-month timing and the whole family's intention to attend.

Step 3: Sign Kulwa. Since the paper supplies no ceremony date or time, promise to share them when confirmed rather than present invented event details as facts.

Final Answer: P.O. Box 120,
Dar es Salaam.
10 October 2025

Dear Milembe,

How are you? I hope you are well. I am writing to share the good news that our brother, Masanja, will graduate in Language Teaching at the University of Dar es Salaam next month. We are very proud of his hard work.

All the members of our family are planning to attend the graduation ceremony. We would be happy if you could join us to celebrate his achievement. Please let us know your travel plans so that we can make arrangements together.

I will send you the exact date and time as soon as the university confirms the details. Give my greetings to everyone at home. I look forward to seeing you at the ceremony.

Your loving brother,
Kulwa

Study Tip: The sender's address and writing date are model details. The graduation information is retained exactly from the question.

Section Summary: An informal letter combines clear information with a personal greeting and closing. Preserve supplied event details and sign the requested name.
